

Notice of Privacy Practices Roseman University of Health Sciences College of Dental Medicine

THIS NOTICE DESCRIBES HOW MEDICAL AND DENTAL INFORMATION ABOUT YOU MAY BE USED AND DISCLOSED AND HOW YOU CAN GET ACCESS TO THIS INFORMATION. PLEASE REVIEW IT CAREFULLY.

Overview

We recognize our responsibility for safeguarding the privacy of your health information. This Notice provides information regarding use and disclosure of protected health information by Roseman University of Health Sciences College of Dental Medicine (CODM) when services are provided within CODM facilities. This Notice also:

- Describes your rights and our obligations for using your health information.
- Informs you about laws that provide special protections.
- Explains how your protected health information is used and how, under certain circumstances, it may be disclosed.
- Tells you how any changes in this Notice will be made available to you.

The Providers

Roseman University of Health Sciences, College of Dental Medicine. CODM will share dental and medical information, as necessary, to provide health care services, and to perform payment and health care operations. Certain individuals or offices within Roseman University of Health Sciences provide support functions to CODM that might include the use of health information. For example, the University provides business services, information system support and security services which include security camera coverage to CODM clinics. When providing these support services, University staff maintain and protect the confidentiality of your health information.

Non-Roseman University Health Care Professionals. Occasionally, non-Roseman University health care professionals may participate in and provide services to patients. When this occurs, protected health information is shared between the entities or health care professionals as necessary for treatment, payment, and certain health care operations.

Protected Health Information

This Notice applies to health information created or received by Roseman CODM that identifies you and that relates to your past, present or future physical or mental condition, the care provided, or the past, present or future payment for your health care. This information, often contained in your dental or medical record, among other purposes, serves as:

- A means of communication among the many health care professionals who contribute to your care.
- The legal record describing the care you received.
- A means by which you or a third-party payer (such as health care insurance) can verify that services billed were provided.
- A tool to educate health care professionals.
- A source of data for dental research.
- A source of information for public health officials.
- A source of data for facility planning.
- A tool we use to improve the care we give and the outcomes we achieve.

Understanding what is in your record and how your health information is used and disclosed helps you to:

- Ensure accuracy in the record.
- Better understand who, what, when, where, and why others may access your health information.
- Make a more informed decision when authorizing disclosures to others.

Use and Disclosure of Your Protected Health Information without Your Authorization

Here are some examples of how we may use and disclose protected health information without your authorization (a written document that gives us permission to share your health information).

Treatment: We use and disclose your health information to provide treatment. For example:

- Your student doctor and supervising faculty doctor (dentist) uses your information to determine whether specific diagnostic tests and medications should be ordered.
- Hygienists, assistants, auxiliary students, or other personnel may need to know and/or discuss your health problems to carry out treatment and to understand how to evaluate your response to treatment.
- We may disclose your health information to another one of your treatment providers in the community, unless the provider is not currently providing treatment to you and you direct us in writing not to make the disclosure.

Payment: We may use your health information for payment purposes. For example:

- We may use your information to prepare claims for payment for services.
- If you have health insurance and we bill your insurance directly, we will include information that identifies you, as well as your diagnosis, procedures, and supplies used so that we can be paid for the treatment provided.

Health Care Operations: We may use and disclose your health information to carry out health care operations. For example, we use and disclose health information from patients to monitor and improve our health services. Also, authorized staff may look at portions of your record to do their job.

Train Staff and Students: We may use and disclose your information to teach and train staff and students.

Conduct Research: We may use and disclose your information for research. If the information is linked to you, an Institutional Review Board (IRB) will review each request to use or disclose it. Even if it is not linked to you, the research may also go through this process. The IRB reviews research to make sure that it is as safe as possible. In some cases, it might be used or disclosed for research without your consent. In these cases, the IRB makes sure that using it without your authorization is justified. The IRB makes sure that steps are taken to limit its use. In all other cases, we must obtain your authorization to use or disclose it for a research project. We may share information about you used for research with researchers at other institutions.

Contact You for Information: Your health information may also be used to contact you. For example, we may call you or send you a letter to remind you about appointments, provide test results, inform you about treatment options, or advise you about other health-related benefits and services.

Conduct Fundraising: Roseman CODM may use information such as your name, address, phone number, and the dates you received services at Roseman CODM clinics to contact you for fundraising activities. Roseman CODM does not access your diagnosis or treatment information for fundraising activities. These funds would be used to expand and support health care services, educational programs, and research activities. We will not sell, trade, or loan your information to any third parties, but the College of Dental Medicine may share it with third parties working directly for CODM. If you do not wish to be contacted as part of our fundraising efforts, please notify us in writing at:

Roseman University of Health Sciences
College of Dental Medicine
10894 S River Front Parkway
South Jordan, Utah 84095

Joint Activities: Your health information may be used and shared by Roseman CODM with other individuals or organizations that engage in joint activities with CODM.

Business Associates: Your health information may be used by Roseman CODM and disclosed to individuals or organizations that assist the CODM or to comply with their legal obligations as described in this Notice. For example, we may disclose information to consultants or attorneys who assist us in our business activities. These business associates must agree to protect, or are bound by law to protect, the confidentiality of your information.

Other Uses and Disclosures: We also use and disclose your information to enhance health care services, to protect patient safety, to safeguard public health, to ensure that our facilities and health care professionals comply with government and accreditation standards and when otherwise allowed by law. For example, we provide or disclose information:

- About FDA regulated drugs and devices to the U.S. Food and Drug Administration.
- To government oversight agencies with data for health oversight activities such as auditing or licensure.
- To public health authorities with information on communicable diseases and vital records.
- To your employer, findings relating to the purposes of medical surveillance of the workplace or evaluation of work-related illnesses or injuries.
- To Workers' Compensation agencies and self-insured employers for work-related illness or injuries.
- To appropriate government agencies when we suspect abuse or neglect.
- To appropriate agencies or persons when we believe it necessary to avoid a serious threat to

- health or safety or to prevent serious harm.
- To law enforcement when required or allowed by law.
- To court order or lawful subpoena.
- To coroners, medical examiners and funeral directors.
- To government officials when required for specifically identified government functions such as national security.
- When otherwise required by law, such as to the Secretary of the United States Department of Health and Human Services for purposes of determining our compliance with our obligations to protect the privacy of your health information.

Use and Disclosure When You Have the Opportunity to Object

Disclosure to and Notification of Family, Friends, or Others: Unless you object, your health care professional will use his or her professional judgment to provide relevant protected health information to your family member, friend, or another person that you indicate has an active interest in your care or the payment for your health care or for notifying these individuals of your location, general condition or death.

Use and Disclosure that Requires Your Authorization

Other than the uses and disclosures described above, we will not use or disclose your protected health information without your written authorization. If you provide us with written authorization, you may revoke that authorization at any time unless disclosure is required for us to obtain payment for services already provided, we have otherwise relied on the authorization, or the law prohibits revocation. Also, in some situations, federal and state laws may provide special protections for certain kinds of protected health information, such as drug or alcohol treatment records. When required by those laws, we may contact you to receive written authorization to use or disclose that information.

Additional Protection of Your Patient Health Information

Special state and federal protections apply to certain classes of patient health information. For example, additional protections may apply to sexually transmitted disease information, drug and alcohol abuse treatment records, mental health records, and HIV/AIDS. When required by law, Roseman CODM will obtain your authorization before releasing this type of information.

Your Individual Rights Regarding Patient Health Information

You have rights related to the use and disclosure of your protected health information. To exercise your rights, you may contact

Roseman College of Dental Medicine
10894 S River Front Parkway
South Jordan, Utah 84095
(801) 878-1200

Your specific rights are listed below:

- The right to request restricted use: You may request in writing that we not use or disclose your information for treatment, payment, and/or operational activities except when specifically authorized by you, when required by law, or in emergency circumstances. We are not legally required to agree to your request. If you make your request to Roseman CODM, we will provide you with written notice of the decision regarding your request.

- The right to receive confidential communications: You have the right to request that we communicate with you about medical matters in a particular way or at a certain location. For example, you can ask that we only contact you at work or by mail. To request confidential communications, you must make your request in writing to the address above. We will accommodate all reasonable requests. Your request must specify how or where you wish to be contacted.
- The right to inspect and receive copies: In most cases, you have the right to look at or order a copy of your health information by using the Authorization to Disclose/Release Protected Health Information Request for Accounting of Disclosures form. Nominal fees apply.
- The right to request an amendment to your record: If you believe that information in your record is incorrect or that important information is missing, you have the right to request in writing that we correct the existing information or add the missing information. In your request for the amendment, you must give a reason for the amendment. We are not required to amend your record, but a copy of your request will be added to your record if you direct us to file it.
- The right to know about disclosures: You have the right to receive a list of instances when we have disclosed your health information except in certain instances, such as disclosures for treatment, payment, or health care operations or when you have authorized the use or disclosure. Your first accounting of disclosures in a calendar year is free of charge. Each additional request within the same calendar year will require a processing fee.
- The right to make complaints: If you are concerned that we have violated your privacy, or you disagree with a decision we made about authorization to your records, you may file a complaint with the Roseman College of Dental Medicine. Roseman CODM will not retaliate against any individual for filing a complaint.

If you believe that your privacy rights have been violated, you may also contact the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, Office for Civil Rights:

Privacy Notice Changes

Our Legal Duty: We are required by law to protect the privacy of your information, to provide this Notice about our privacy practices, and to follow the privacy practices that are described in this Notice.

We reserve the right to change the privacy practices described in this Notice. We reserve the right to make the revised or changed Notice effective for protected health information we already have as well as any information we may receive in the future. We will post a copy of the current Notice at Roseman CODM. In addition, each time you register at or are admitted to Roseman CODM clinic for treatment, you may request a copy of the current Notice in effect.
